MT. LEBANON
COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Make a creative connection!

We would like to invite you to join our art celebration at the 2023 Howard Hanna Mt. Lebanon Artists' Market. When you browse and shop the Mt. Lebanon Artists' Market, you will make personal connections directly with our artists.

Learn about the inspiration behind your painting.

Get to know the talent behind your piece of jewelry.

Learn how your wooden bowl was made.

But that's not all. Make connections with our community, our culture, and our neighbors. As an integral part of Mt. Lebanon's community, art enriches our lives. And The Artist's Market invites everyone to participate, explore and enjoy different art forms.

We want to thank our artists for the beauty and vision they share with us.

CHAIR

What is the Mt. Lebanon Partnership? We are a nonprofit volunteer organization founded to create a vibrant community in Mt. Lebanon by promoting economic growth in the Mt. Lebanon commercial districts on behalf of business owners, property owners and residents. The partnership presents events such as the Artists Market throughout the year that are designed to bring together residents and businesses in our exciting commercial districts. Visit the Partnership website (mtlebopartnership.org) for a calendar of events and more information on how to get involved.

meet our jurors

Huck Beard is a prolific photographer in artistic and journalistic media. He is Creative Director at Pittsburgh Magazine and has also art-directed lifestyle and city-regional magazines in Florida and Pennsylvania. He has enjoyed artistic collaborations with Artists Circle Fine Art, Chatham Baroque, Carnegie Mellon University, Glass Box Group, Hazelwood Green, Jade Piano Trio, Jade Scott Design, Keep Florida Beautiful, Mellon Foundation, NAI Pittsburgh, Opera Theatre of Pittsburgh, PNC Bank, Resonance Works, Syracuse Opera, Voces Solis, Westminster Choirs, Whiteford Taylor Preston, and the Yards at 3 Crossings. He is founder of the Abandoned Pittsburgh project, which has led to the publication of three books in the Abandoned Pittsburgh series. The project documents the Steel City's forgotten industrial and community sites where beauty in decay still exists. He is also a writer, with two novels out on submission with the Selectric Artists literary agency in New York City. He has been interviewed on the podcasts Bad Ass Writers, Reluctant Book Marketer, and The Sh*t No One Tells You About Writing. He is currently working on his third novel and a collection of short stories.

Mark Bender's artisan illustration is classically inspired and hand crafted, combining traditional media with contemporary technology to create compelling imagery that connects with the audience. His visual vocabulary pulls from vintage advertising of the 20's and 30's, WPA and propaganda posters, giving contemporary concepts a timeless motif. Mark's meticulously crafted images have been incorporated into advertising campaigns, packaging, annual reports, CD jackets, children's books, murals, posters and magazines. Recognized by Communication Arts Magazine, 3X3 Magazine, Archive 200 Best Illustrators, Creative Quarterly and the New York Society of Illustrators, Mark has been included in the society's annual exhibitions and in Original Art, the best in children's book illustration. A member of both the NY Society of Illustrators and the Pittsburgh Society of Illustrators, he has also been awarded both gold and silver Addys and a prestigious silver medal from the New York Society of Illustrators. Mark has been nurturing young illustrators for more than a decade as a faculty member at the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, where he received the 2008 Inez C. Hall outstanding faculty member of the year award. Mark is a proud member of the "Syracuse Syndicate", receiving a Masters in Illustration from Syracuse University.

Anne Frederickson is a retired teacher from the Keystone Oaks School District, who now enjoys spending much of her free time on wildlife and pet portraits, as well as botanical illustrations. She earned minors in Studio Art and Art History at the University of Pittsburgh. Early in her teaching career, she taught art and used art extensively to teach a variety of other subjects. She also gave art lessons to teenagers and volunteered at Our Clubhouse to encourage cancer students to explore their own creativity. She has spoken in front of numerous groups about her art. Her work is mainly colored pencil, although she still paints, as well. She earned her botanical illustration certification from Phipps Conservatory, and using those skills, extended her focus to animals, especially during COVID, when the birds flocked to her newly established feeders. An avid dog lover, Anne also accepts commissions for pets and also does portraits of dogs at the shelter where she volunteers. Anne has displayed her work in a variety of places in the Pittsburgh area. As a vendor at the Mt. Lebanon Artists' Market for several years, she was honored to be awarded Best in 2-D in 2021.
